

DROWNING AND MINOR INJURIES ARE RESULT OF FOUR DAY HOLIDAY

Pronounced Safe and Sane Fourth; Children Hurt With Fireworks

One drowning and several injuries sustained by victims of fireworks were the toll taken here in the Fourth of July four-day observance, pronounced the most quiet and sane independence celebration in this section for many years.

Ruth Lind, five year old daughter of a Chicago couple vacationing at Grass Lake, was drowned in the channel Sunday, while playing with two small sisters. Other accidents and injuries reported during the four-day period were of minor significance.

While the holidays resulted in practically no automobile crashes, accidents with fireworks in which children were burned and had fingers torn were reported to be more numerous this year than any year before.

Finger Blown Off
John Fellows, 17-year-old of Chicago had part of his index finger blown off Tuesday when he was shooting firecrackers. He received medical attention from Dr. H. F. Beebe, who stated that the injury was not serious except for the loss of the finger.

A number of children who received minor burns and injuries during the celebrations were reported by the five village doctors, two of whom stated that more children were injured by fireworks this year than any other.

Whether a reflection of 3.2 legal beer or of the depression, less drunkenness and fewer "gln" parties were reported by John Brogan, police officer of other years, now nightwatchman, and other observers. Taverns, according to Mr. Brogan, in keeping with the beer ordinance, closed promptly at one o'clock.

Playing in Boat
Parents of the child who drowned at Grass Lake are the Oscar Linds. The child with her sisters was said to have played frequently in the boats at the Bruder Boat line where the fatal accident occurred. According to the children, the wash from a motor boat going through the channel upset the small boat in which they were playing. Mr. Breudner, hearing the cries of the children, dived at the spot pointed out and recovered the body but attempts to revive the child were futile.

Oscar Lind is an awning hanger. The family were living in the Wildwood subdivision.

LEGION CLEARS PROFIT OF $237 ON FOUR DAY FESTIVAL CELEBRATION

Inclement Weather and Location Outside Limits Blamed

Although a profit of $237 was made by the Antioch Post of the American Legion in the Fourth of July Carnival held from Saturday through Tuesday, the festival was pronounced "not a success" by the commander, L. John Zimmerman.

Inclement weather and the location of the festival outside the village limits were reasons ascribed by Dr. Zimmerman for the comparatively small crowds which were attracted this year, while he gave reduced expense as the reason for a profit being made over last year's proceeds.

Fireworks, a bi-centennial Washington pageant, and representatives of an Indian tribe, brought here last summer for the Legion festival, were items of expense which were not undertaken this year in connection with the celebration. After paying for these entertainments, the post cleared $40 on last year's carnival.

Legion members and members of the auxiliary took charge of booths and concessions this year as in other years, the Auxiliary operating one booth for benefit of its own organization.

Small crowds were attracted to the festival the first three days, the largest attendance being the night of the Fourth. Naber field was the site of the festival. The carnival company, which brought the rides and other concessions, left Wednesday for Genoa City.

The three women were on their way to the World's Fair when the accident happened. They were rushed to the nearby Swedish Covenant hospital. Mrs. Olsen was the most seriously hurt. Her hand was crushed and an elbow was believed to be dislocated. Mrs. Buerger was cut and bruised and Mrs. Bubbles was less seriously injured.

The son of a Chicago physician, the driver of the car that struck the Fox Lake machine, was held for questioning.

Fourth Brings Crowds and Better Business

Cottagers Bring Guests; Many Leave After Week-End

With crowds of last week-end and Fourth of July exceeding those of any other time this season, merchants and resort owners agreed that business was better than it had been for some time, one merchant going so far as to state that his business was better than a year ago at this time.

Cottagers and their guests were agreed at the lakes to have constituted the larger part of the vacation population coming and going from last Saturday through the Fourth of July. Hotels complained of feeling least the effect of the holiday business while cottages, empty up until now during the season, were rented over the week end.

Clothing stores as well as grocery stores and restaurants felt the stimulus of the increased trade early this week, in some instances giving enthusiastic accounts of the week-end buying.

Good crowds filled the theaters and kept many stores open until late the night before the holiday. While many visitors arrived Monday and Tuesday, many also returned to the city following the week-end, because of the occurrence of the holiday on a week day.

Business houses in the village were closed after noon Fourth of July day. Fewer shoppers were seen on the street that day than on the previous day. Altogether, it was agreed that despite the Century of Progress Exposition, the holiday brought out a large crowd.

Milops of Minneapolis Leave After Visit Here

BOARD TAKES DRASTIC MOVE TODAY AGAINST WATER DELINQUENTS

Consumers With Unpaid Bills to Have Water Shut Off Is Decree

Drastic measures against delinquent water consumers were taken by village trustees at the board meeting Wednesday night when it was decided that starting today, consumers with unpaid bills will have their water shut off until bills are paid.

Instructions were issued to Simon Simonsen, village marshal, to shut off water at all homes appearing on the delinquent list starting today, except in cases where requests for an extension of time have been granted.

Notices to householders in arrears with their water fees were sent out ten days ago by the village clerk asking that the bill be paid or a satisfactory reason be given for not paying. All who had failed to pay their bills by last night, were requested to attend the meeting last night.

Rate to Remain Same
Approximately fifty out of 360 water consumers in the village had not paid their bills up until last night. Consideration of a lower water rate which has been under advisement by the water committee, was vetoed last night when the committee reported that a survey of rates in other villages revealed that the Antioch rate is an average and reasonable rate. A larger number of citizens than usual were present at last night's meeting to state their grievances.

Lights Voted
Installation of two street lights on Hillside Ave., one at the corner of Hillside and Orchard and the other between that corner and the Dr. H. F. Beebe residence, was voted by the trustees. Addition of these two lights will raise the number of village street lights to 75 which will make the village eligible for a new rate, which, according to Clerk Roy Murrie, will make the monthly additional cost after the two new lights are in use about $1.60.

Following a report of the licensing committee on license fees charged moving picture theaters in 26 neighboring villages, it was decided that the local rate would not be reduced as was at first considered. The rate here is $75 a year, payable semi-annually.

An ordinance regulating the issuance of vehicle licenses was adopted at the meeting and is printed elsewhere in this paper. The ordinance amends a previous ordinance.

Blossoming of Lotus Within Week Predicted by Blarney Island Man

Lotus flowers at Grass and Fox Lakes will be in full bloom within another week, according to Jack O'Connor of Blarney Island. Grass Lake, who has watched the growth of the flowers in many past seasons. Cool weather for several days retarded the growth of the plants, but warm days will bring full blooms, he believes.

Blossoming of the lotus beds, regarded as the outstanding event of the season in the Fox Lake and Grass Lake areas, is the feature which resort owners and civic boosters of Fox Lake are advertising in hope of attracting Century of Progress Exposition visitors from Chicago to this area.

Young Fawn Interests Visitors at Pasadena

A young fawn born Saturday at Pasadena deer farm a mile north of Antioch is being shown to visitors by Bruno Rojewski, proprietor of Pasadena Gardens, who is a sportsman and nature lover.

Very few people, even hunters in the environs of wild deer, have ever seen a very young deer, according to Rojewski. Young deer are born spotted, which serves as camouflage, and they are scentless as long as the spots remain. A doe, which stalked by wolves, will toss a fawn with her head away from the trail and out of harm's way, where it will remain motionless until the danger is over. Wolves will pass within a few feet of a fawn without being aware of its presence.

These facts were learned by Bruno who has spent considerable time in the north woods and knows animal lore like a book. He took out a deer farm license and brought four breeding specimens from Northern Wisconsin two years ago.

Storm Damages Phone Line and Cottages

Power Co. Suffers Loss of $30,000 in Northern Illinois

Damage to telephone lines in this section kept telephone employees busy replacing wires blown down after the windstorm and rain which swept the county last Saturday night. Damage to cottages at Cross Lake, where a number of trees were uprooted, was also reported following the storm.

Lines and equipment of the Public Service Company were reported to be damaged by the storm to the amount of $30,000 through northern Illinois, one of the steel transmission towers being badly damaged when the roof of a barn was blown against it. Channel Lake dance pavilion and Cedar Crest Stables were left entirely darkened for a time when power was cut off. Damage to the farming area of northern Kane county was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Coming in the wake of a warm, sultry day, the storm left cooler weather Sunday which continued the early part of the week. A windstorm early Saturday morning failed to change the temperature to any extent.

Fox Lake Garden Club Picnics at Lake Geneva

A picnic at Lake Geneva today was planned by the Garden Club. The club has postponed the flower show until Aug. 8 and 9.

ANTIOCH SPENDS OVER $28,000.00, STATEMENT REVEALS

Board Approves Dunn's Report—Village Handles $40,217.24

The business of the village of Antioch for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1933, including funds received and balances carried forward from the various funds and the eleven active special assessments, totaled $40,217.24, according to the annual statement of former Village Treasurer James M. Dunn, which is published in this edition of the News.

Of the total amount, the sum of $28,375.55 is represented as expenditures in carrying on the various functions of the municipal government, and retelling bonds and interest, and $11,841.69 as balances remaining in the several regular and special assessment funds.

Assessment No. 7 Retired
Special assessment No. 7, the Main Street paving, was closed July 26, 1932, with the transference by voucher a balance of $5,226.03 to a checking account for refunding money to property owners. Most of this is now back in the hands of Main street property owners, according to Dunn. With the closing of this fund there now remains ten active special assessments for various improvement projects.

Mr. Dunn's report is well prepared, easy to understand, and shows the village finances to be in excellent condition.

Dunn's successor as treasurer is Laurel D. Powles, who was elected at the April election. Village treasurers are elected for two years, but can not serve two terms successively.

Aces Lose and Tie Game in Playing During Holidays

A tie game and a one point defeat were added to the record of the Aces during the holidays, Grayslake winning over the Aces on the Fourth and the Waukegan A. C.'s tying a game with the Aces Sunday which was forfeited to the latter team when the out of town players were unable to remain to play off the tie.

In the game Tuesday, the Grayslake men showed economy in their scoring making eight runs on eight hits. The Aces who outthrew them by three strikes, scored 7 runs.

Sunday's game left the Antioch behind in the scoring until the seventh inning when the Aces started scoring, tying the score. Two of the Waukegan players being unable to continue playing, the game was forfeited to the Antioch men.

Round Lake will be played by the Aces next Sunday at Renehan's park. It is predicted that Les Hanke will be in the line-up by that time.

RESORT HOSPITALITY

With the passing of the Fourth of July we are forcibly impressed with the reminder that summer is well along and Labor Day will be upon us before we have stopped to think that summer is here. These three favored months, June, July and August, do not linger in their passage. They come and leave us blinking our eyes with bewilderment at the swift transition.

Because these are the months when we store up sunshine against days which are not so fair, nor so bright, days when we see more of our friends and of nature's panorama of beauties, summer months are everywhere a treasured fraction of the year.

But in this region, where summer is the goal to which our ambitions are bent, when it is the period when our business enterprises flourish, the passing of summer is especially mourned.

For those who direct their efforts toward the enjoyment and amusement of others rather than their own during the vacation months, the play period calls for a distinctly different set of attitudes than for those who make the resort area a "land of pleasure seeking."

Too often resorts and establishments catering to a resort trade fall short of the ideal sought by vacationists because the persons responsible for the operation of the business have never to the slightest degree tried to measure up to their own ideals of vacation pleasure. Antagonism between the townspeople and the residents of any resort, has never failed to decrease the popularity of the region.

Courtesy and patience are two of the outstanding requirements of the resort business man for pleasure seekers expect a cordial welcome from the community, and they are less inclined to be business-like in their dealings than they would be in their daily routines.

The resort which allows its visitors to feel preyed upon, or welcome only when they are materially giving their financial support to the community will never bring its trade back year after year because of happy memories.

Viewed with a cold business eye, the vacationist comes to a particular locality because he believes for value received it will give him a satisfactory vacation. In a like vein, the resort operator welcomes the visitor because he will place additional money in circulation in the town as well as benefitting him individually.

But much that the vacationist wants in his summer vacation is not for sale, and for much that he brings to the community, he is offered nothing in exchange. He has an intangible value to offer the resort region, and he expects an intangible value in return. He expects his business dealings to be pleasant, his presence to be welcome—in other words, the vacationist seeks hospitality in his new environment. And in return he is a liberal spender, eager to advertise your community by way of mouth if he is satisfied, and without him and his fellows, the plight of the resort town would be as sad as that of a fish out of water.

OPPORTUNITY IS HERE

Summer days created for idleness with the stretches of blue lake water, cool wooded lots, and neat spacious lawns make the Lake Resort region an ideal locality for passing the summer in restful and healthful recreation. Sportsman and spectator will not find time hanging heavy on his hands during a vacation in this region for the visitor is offered vastly more than the great beauty of the land about him and the ideally healthful climate.

For the lover of nature, many landscapes are offered to his view. An ambling walk or brisk canter through the country side may take him past the rolling fields or along shaded paths from which the lakes are a dazzling, shimmering blue, glimpsed between trees.

To the sportsman, all manner of happy pastimes are offered by the region. Several courses are offered the golfer for his choice. Boats and bait are always ready for the fisherman who will find the fish really bite, and proving his luck in one body of water, he may always move to the next.

Excellent beach is waiting those who swim. Riding, hiking, fishing, golfing, swimming—who could ask for a more versatile offering than these? And the Lakes as well, can offer the advantage of dine and dance places along the shore, of pavilions and its own ballroom, of dancing on every evening of the week to captivating music.

The probability with most persons when offered a great number of gifts from which to choose, is to lose them all in hesitating over the choice. To a small degree this may be true of the vacationist, who finding himself confronted with all manners of enjoyment, may hesitate to grasp all that his time permits.

The restful, refreshing beauty of the lakes and countryside, the stimulating effects of warm sunshine, cool evening breezes and harmonious surroundings are his without effort as he sets foot upon this favored land. But he must choose to add the others to his summer's experience. He may pass the summer in solitude or with his family, never making a single contact with the delightful personalities which are to be found in a summer colony. He may never improve his golf, his swimming stroke; never know the satisfied pride of landing a "big one" or bringing in a long catch; never touch the romance and adventure which lie waiting for him.

Or he may return at the end of a few days, a week, a month or more, confident that his time passed in this region has added something enriching to his life. In a month and less, friends may be made, in the mutual pleasure of enjoying the period of play, who will not be forgotten in a lifetime.

Happy incidents and friendships made along the way are half the stuff of which successful lives are made. Play while you play with zest and abandon, leaving your cares back where you left your everyday life. Antioch resort region offers you much in happy experience. Do not neglect to take of her store.

A NEWSPAPER EXPERIMENT

The old contention of some merchants in every town that the newspaper has no advantage over other mediums of advertising was neatly refuted recently by a Nebraska publisher who sent out an issue of his paper without a news item in it, ads filling every page. Advertisers and readers called the plant immediately expressing great indignation, whereat the publisher produced, for the advertisers' benefit, advertisements used by them which had no auxiliary news matter.

That the newspaper is the best advertising medium, is recognized by advertising authorities. The reason is obvious. Other forms of advertising have nothing to recommend that they be given attention, except the advertising itself. The newspaper, because of the news, is read, and is waited for. Anyone who doubts this fact may be less doubting when he considers that few subscribers will leave on a vacation without asking that their mailing address be changed.

Not Our Jokes

An Englishman, according to popular legend, gets three laughs from a joke—first when the joke is told; second, when it is explained to him, and third, when he understands it. The Frenchman gets only the first two; he never sees the point. The German gets one—he won't wait for an explanation. And the American gets none at all, because he's heard the joke before.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 2. The Golden Text was, "The Lord shall reign for ever and ever" (Exodus 15:18). Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "O Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears" (1 Chron. 17:20).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To grasp the reality and order of being in its Science, you must begin by reckoning God as the divine Principle of all that really is. Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one, and are the Scriptural names for God. All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love" (p. 275).

EARLY CUSTOMS ARE REVEALED BY RELICS, STONE COLLECTION

Hobby of Carey and Winters Results in Interesting Finds

Traditions and the everyday life of the Indian and early settler in this area can be traced in the collection of stones and implements which has been made by L. R. Winters, Twin Lakes postmaster, and James Carey, Twin Lakes real estate dealer, for the pleasure of following a hobby.

Arrowheads, found in the Winters' garden, which gives never a hint that Indians once lurked there, and such interesting relics as a hand-carved gun stock, brass pail and broad axe, are curiosities in the collection which is exhibited in the office of James Carey.

Mr. Winters' contributions to the collection were gathered mainly in his own garden, in the rear of the post-office, which according to those in the Twin Lakes community who remember "way back when" was a duck pond thirty years and more ago. His arrowhead collection which is large ranges from chipped stone heads a half inch long to those 4 inches long.

Included with the arrowheads in his collection are a stone skinner, a hide polisher, believed to have been used by Indians, and a petrified root.

Dr. David B. Winters, who is like a credit, to give an interesting explanation by Mr. Carey who believes it was a gouge used in cleaning out tree trunks from which boats were built by the Indians. In the fall, preparatory to going down the river, according to Mr. Carey, Indians cut down cottonwood trees, burned out the inside of the trunk, and cleaned out the pulp, which was left, with the gouge.

An unsolved mystery hovers over a coral formation, found in the highlands, but obviously of Florida origin. What appears to be a petrified claw, and a smoothed stone used as the end of a tomahawk, are typical oddities in the collection.

Riveted plow shares, a copper water pail, a fireplace kettle and a sadiron are antiques of the pioneer period which James Carey has picked up on the old Orvis farm, on English Prairie, but the prize of them all is a broad axe measuring a foot across the blade and a scant 21 inches in length. Implements of this type were used in early days for building barns.

Ducks, a squirrel, a pheasant, and fish, mounted and displayed in a case or on the walls, reveal another side to Mr. Carey's collecting hobby.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAUGH

IN THE days when Marco Polo traveled, trade between East and West was largely for the sake of luxuries and chief of these, were the spices and condiments which acted both as preservatives of food and as disguises to "high" flavor.

Today's simplicity of seasoning is made possible by our understanding of spoilage and how to prevent it by proper refrigeration. This care must be continued in production, shipping, retailing and finally in the home. It is most important that milk, eggs, butter, meats and fish be kept cold or else they should be bought frequently in small quantities.

Midsummer vegetables for salads are plentiful. Be sure to marinate them in a dressing of olive oil, seasonings and lemon juice or vinegar. The small fruits and cantaloupe and watermelon are abundant this week. Here are the Quaker Maid Kitchen's menus for the week.

AMERICAN AIR RACE EVENTS: JULY 1-4

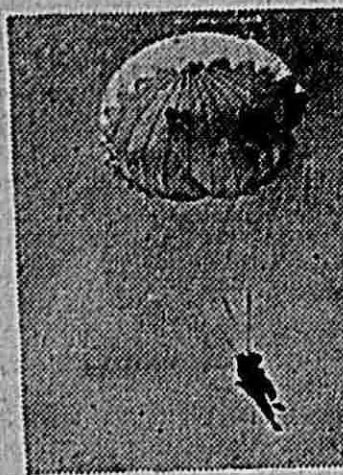

Zooming around pylons at more than 225 miles an hour, Johnny Livingston of Aurora, Ill., is expected to offer stiff competition to entrants in the Baby Ruth and Aero Digest Trophy Races at the American Air Races in Chicago on July 2 and 4. (Inset shows Livingston, winner of more prize money than any other racing pilot.)

Towed to an altitude of 3,000 feet, Charles Abel of Chicago will put on a marvelous glider demonstration. He loops the loop and goes through nearly every stunt possible in his motorless glider as he leaves a smoke trail behind him.

A stunting autogiro! Frank Falkner is expected to outdo himself during the American Air Races on July 1 to 4 when he takes his "windmill" up and puts it through every stunt imaginable—even making it stand still in midair; and he lands his gyro vertically from an altitude of 300 feet directly in front of the grandstands!

Dropping 8,000 feet before opening his parachute, Clem Soha will make crowds at American Air Races gasp as he falls at 120 miles an hour.

British Capt. Dick Graner's comedy act furnishes enough amusement to make even veteran pilots gasp as he does what seems like the impossible in his pusher plane.

Small racing aircraft will try for $25,000 cash prizes and valuable trophies at the American Air Races, Chicago Municipal Airport, July 1 to 4.

Sales and Service Garage Closed; Sheriff's Sale to Be Held Next Friday

Custodians appointed during the ensuing period between now and the sale are Adolph Posat and Walter Selter. The Sales and Service Garage, located in the rear of the National Tea Store, is agent for the Ford motor car in this locality.

HintsThree Dresses Will Lay Foundation
For Vacation Whether at Camp or FairCostumes for Travel, Sports and Evenings Supply
All Needs

In packing for a trip, no matter whether it leads to the seashore, to the Century of Progress exposition, to a lake house-party, a camping outing, or to a friend's house in a nearby town, three costumes will lay the foundation for your wardrobe and will be adequate for any occasion which may turn up.

The traveling costume, which is really not part of the packing though it is included in the three outfits, this year may be a tailored cotton or linen suit, or a sheer ensemble. Tailored gingham suits of gingham and pique, and linens in dark colors are the newest thing in this type of costume which serves for streetwear as well as the trip. If the journey is made by train, dark accessories are by all means desirable. A brown plaid gingham suit may well be worn with a brown hat, brown gloves, and white spectator oxfords with brown calf reinforcements on toe and heel. These shoes will serve for sports wear as well as the street.

Second to the traveling costume as a necessity in the vacation wardrobe is a sports dress of linen or wash and a light-colored pastel shade. The vacation wear. With the gingham traveling costume comprised of a three quarter length jacket with a one-piece dress, the dress will fill the dual purpose of travel and sports wear. In case Chicago or another city is the destination, the sports dress will not be necessary unless tennis or golf are included in the program. If active sports are to be included in the vacation, the dress should be decidedly tailored, and for golf at any rate, protect the shoulders and arms from the sun.

Chiffon
The third type of dress which is convenient on a vacation trip is a printed chiffon in an evening type of dress with its own jacket. Chiffon is preferable to an organdy or dotted swiss because it will survive the trip in a suitcase much better than these materials. On many trips, the evening type of dress will not be necessary. Certainly it will not on the camping outing, probably not for a week-end at the lake unless one's hosts are likely to entertain at a dinner party. Where the vacationist is visiting the city and will take her evening gaily at cafes, the printed sheer traveling costume, particularly if it is in the popular new current shade and has a becoming dress under the jacket, will serve as well.

Even this skeleton or foundation wardrobe, obviously, is extremely elastic. Plans for clothes to be taken on a trip must be made with the requirements of the place in mind of course, but with the above three outfits, the vacationist may start out for the World's Fair and end up camping and depend on being well dressed all the while.

On the camping trip, the shirt-waist dress, the play suit, and linen riding breeches, will be eminently successful and may be substituted for the sports dress. The traveling costume in this case will serve as a town costume and will be appropriate for all wanderings from the camp routine. A pair of sports oxfords or boots should be included in her bag by the camper. These with her street shoes in which she arrives will be ample for the trip unless she wants to include a pair of soft sandals for wear around the cabin or the camp. Lisle sports hose will also be valuable in her wardrobe. Ankle socks are entirely inappropriate if any walking is to be done.

Teammate
For the lake vacationist, the sports dress may be given a cotton sports dress for a teammate mornings if the trip is to last longer than a week-end. Beach pajamas or a beach dress as well as the very necessary bathing suit should be tucked into the lake vacationist's bag, and if she enjoys sunning on the beach, the pajamas will fill the need of a second sports costume. The pastel dress of crepe or linen, if chosen wisely, will be suitable for afternoon wear. Shoes in this travel kit will include sandals for beach wear, soft low heeled shoes for wear when not in the beach costume and the traveling shoes, which in this case will probably be the spectator white oxfords mentioned.

The city vacationist, if she is to stay any length of time, will undoubtedly feel a need for more than one street costume. A pastel sports dress or semi sports dress with a pique sweater coat will fill this need well. Linen white smart and cool, it must be remembered, wrinkles and unless the traveler has ready access to an ironing board, or can afford

An Occasion of Eggs, and Toast and Fruit

Breakfast may be the most delightful meal of the day or it may be merely an interlude between dressing and starting the day's routine. When it is eaten standing up, or gulped with little regard as to what is eaten, it is a poor start for the day. Breakfast should be an occasion, the first event of the day which starts one's program off right.

No less than at other meals, the breakfast table should be made pleasing to the eye as well as the palate. Bright cloths for the table and dainty china, perhaps a special breakfast set, will help in this. Flowers in the frequent pressings, it is not a wise choice.

No matter where the traveler is headed, a coat may be welcome and should not be forgotten. For the camper, a suede jacket will be a wise choice. For the city vacationist, a tweed sweater coat will be welcome if the weather turns cool, and a white swaggar coat will also be suitable.

Hints

Nothing has been said so far about hats, but they will suggest themselves with the costume. For the camper, perhaps no hat is necessary except that worn for traveling which will be supplemented by a beret. The lake cottage sojourner, will also find the beret valuable, as well as the fascinating beach hat which need not be at all expensive. Panamas are excellent all occasion hats and are always smart. Pique is also good and has the added advantage of being a smart note of the season. Straws in the cartwheel styles are another suggestion which will suit the needs of the city vacationist.

Underwear which is easily laundered, as few shoes as can be taken, several pairs of gloves, if gloves will be worn, and a cleaner for your white shoes will add to the comfort of your trip.

Half the trick of packing a bag neatly and carefully enough that your clothes will not be hopelessly wrinkled when they are unpacked is in not crowding and jamming things together. Take what you need, but not one thing extra and such necessities as your cosmetics, take in small quantities. It is useless to take a two-pound jar of cold cream on a week-end trip.

Don't take clothes which you might need. Take the things you know you'll need and choose them carefully enough that they will serve for more than one type of occasion. Pack your clothes carefully, and then stop worrying about them. Summer may give the day an added touch of sunshine. At no time of the day are we more impressionable than at the breakfast table.

The breakfast menu should in no case be too heavy, and in many families a very light breakfast is preferred. For many, fruit for breakfast is an absolute necessity to a palatable first meal of the day.

Monotony in the breakfast menu is as intolerable as monotony at any other meal. And breakfast recipes range from the most fascinating muffins to cooked cereals with dates.

Fruits in season at this time of the year include plums, peaches, berries, pineapple, cantaloupe, and the ever obtainable grapefruits, oranges, and tomato juice. Berries served perhaps one morning in the week, with plums another morning, and oranges or grapefruit the remaining mornings, will give sufficient variety in the line of fruit for most persons' breakfasts.

For the main breakfast dish or dishes, cereals, either cooked or uncooked, toast, hot muffins, or rolls, eggs, bacon, sausages and fish are only a few of many breakfast suggestions which may be made into tempting dishes. Cereals should be varied frequently and occasionally raisins, dates or prunes may be added while the cereal is cooking. Rice as well as the commercial cereals is liked by many persons.

Toast is one of our breakfast standards but served morning after morning, it loses its appeal to the appetite. Served occasionally with jam, eggs, or some other dish, it makes a satisfying breakfast. Hot muffins can be made with bran, with blueberries, or with an orange flavoring. A breakfast dish which most families will enjoy is toasted caramel rolls. The rolls, bought either at the bakery or baked at home, are slit through the center and toasted. Other rolls may be toasted in this way and their natural deliciousness increased.

WARM summer days and home-made ice cream belong together. You can enjoy this treat to your heart's content if you make it this economical way. With half the usual amount of cream this ice cream is not too rich and with a small amount of quick-cooking tapioca it will freeze to a smooth, velvety texture either in a mechanical refrigerator or in a freezer.

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 3 cups milk, scalded; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 3 tablespoons light corn syrup; 2 egg whites; 1 cup cream, whipped; 1 tablespoon vanilla. Add tapioca to milk, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear and mixture thickened, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve, onto salt, 1/2 cup sugar, and corn syrup. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add 3 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream and vanilla. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible—3 to 4 hours usually required. Or turn mixture into container, cover tightly, and pack in equal parts ice and salt 3 to 4 hours. Makes 1 quart ice cream.

Coffee Ice Cream
3 cups milk; 1/2 cup medium-ground coffee; 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 4 tablespoons light corn syrup; 3 tablespoons sugar; 2 egg whites; 1 cup cream, whipped. Scald milk with coffee in double boiler and strain immediately through cheesecloth. Rinse out top of double boiler and return milk to it. Add tapioca and cook 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear and mixture thickened, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve, onto salt, 1/2 cup sugar, and corn syrup. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add 3 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible—3 to 4 hours usually required. Or turn mixture into container, cover tightly, and pack in equal parts ice and salt 3 to 4 hours. Makes 1 quart ice cream.

Peanut Brittle Blique
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 3 cups milk, scalded; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 3 tablespoons light corn syrup; 2 egg whites; 1 cup cream, whipped; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1/2 pound peanut brittle, finely crushed or ground. Add tapioca to milk, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear and mixture thickened, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve, onto salt, 1/2 cup sugar, and corn syrup. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add 3 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream, vanilla, and peanut brittle. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible—3 to 4 hours usually required. Or turn mixture into container, cover tightly, and pack in equal parts ice and salt 3 to 4 hours. Makes 1 quart ice cream.

One hour's breeze
COSTS LESS THAN a cigarette

Sticky and hot . . . not a breath of air. But a fan soon stirs up a good gusty breeze. The electricity that brings you this comfort is cheap. It costs less than a third of a cent an hour to run a 10-inch fan in the average home served by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Fans are low-priced, too: Small sizes are now less than $2.50 at Public Service Stores and other LOCAL ELECTRICAL DEALERS.

Duration of Life Increasing, Vital Statistics Show

Further evidence of an increased average age at death for Wisconsin on the basis of the 1932 mortality statistics was revealed at Madison last week in the fact that deaths last year among residents over 80 years of age totaled 4,423, an increase of 376 over those of the preceding year, the state board of health announced.

The marked increase of deaths in the upper age groups, coupled with reduced mortality among the young in the state is expected to result in an average age at death considerably higher than the 1931 average of 53.1 years, which set a new high, according to the state board's bureau of vital statistics.

Wisconsin deaths last year at 80 years or over consisted of those of 3,770 octogenarians, 636 nonagenarians, and 17 centenarians, the board's annual survey showed. Heart diseases were the cause of 1,483 of these deaths, followed by cerebral hemorrhage, 586 deaths, nephritis, 133 deaths and cancer 362 deaths among the leading causes.

Fish Respond to Colors
Color plays a part in the lives of reptiles and fish. Iguanas prefer yellow flowers and are attracted by yellow flowers. White fish are more readily caught when bathed in certain colors are used.

Here's How!

ANNETTE HANSHAW

CURVES are back in style, and slim little Annette Hanshaw, blues singer of Captain Henry's Maxwell House Show Boat, is gaining weight in accordance with the dictates of fashion.

It's all done by using two and one-half pints of cream a day. Every day she drinks three glasses of straight cream; one at 11 o'clock in the morning, one at 4:30 in the afternoon, and one before bedtime. She also uses cream generously on her cereals and in her coffee. So far Annette has gained ten pounds in as many days and now weighs 107 pounds.

Ninety-seven pounds is not very much blues singer, but even 97 pounds is a lot more than Annette weighed when she made her first professional appearance. She was two years old then and got a lollipop for her first song. She thought it was a good racket, as she liked to sing anyhow, so she has been chanting the blues ever since. The genial Captain Henry gives her more than a lollipop for her show boat singing though.

Romance Everywhere

One constantly hears that "the romance of discovery is dead." But nothing could be farther from the truth. Only the other day a schoolgirl recognized a stone lying under a hedge near Madsstone as a fine Stone Age ax. Astronomers constantly discover new worlds, while untapped realms of spiritual experience wait for all to explore.—London Mail

HOLD ON TO YOUTH

It's Smart to Be Slender

By Marie H. Callahan, Editor
Modern Beauty Shop Magazine

Good news for those of you whose natural appetite for food is constantly warring against your desire to reduce weight! Don't mind if your friends do tease you about not keeping to your starvation diet, because nutritionists say that you have no business following a too limited diet anyway, for such a regime will tear down your health and, as a matter of fact, won't even bring you any nearer to your goal—a beautiful figure—because when weight is too quickly taken off, it leaves the skin flabby—a condition which is certainly not more desirable than plumpness. You should never lose more than two pounds a week.

A balanced diet should be maintained when you are reducing just as at any other time. Here is what should be included in every reducing diet each day, because these foods supply all the elements necessary for health and yet are low in calorie content:

Milk, 1 quart, for calcium, vitamin A and protein quality; vegetables and fruits, 6 servings, for vitamins and minerals; lean meat, 1 serving, for protein quality; eggs, 1 serving, for protein quality, vitamin A and iron; butter, not less than ½ oz. for vitamin A.

You will notice that fresh milk is included in this diet at the very top of the list. Some people have the mistaken idea that milk is fattening. This is not the case. Fresh milk is not in itself fattening, but is a low calorie food supplying the dietary essentials often lacking in low calorie reducing diets. Probably it is because of its wealth of minerals and vitamins that people have come to think of it as a "rich" food. It is rich but not in fattening qualities. Because of the fact that it is our most nearly complete food, at least a pint (if possible a quart) should be included in every diet, reducing, gaining, or normal, for this is the easiest way for you to be sure of having a balanced diet. Here is a typical 1400-calorie daily reducing menu which will serve as a guide to you in building further daily diets for yourself, or if you write to the Home Economics Dept., Room 900, Engineering Bldg., Chicago, we will be glad to send you menus for two weeks.

BREAKFAST
Grapefruit juice, small glass
Bacon, two strips
French toast, one slice
Coffee
Fresh milk, one glass

LUNCH

Egg and milk shake
DINNER
Steak 6 stalks asparagus
½ cup corn 1 tbsp. butter
Celery, lettuce, cucumber, water cream, onion salad, 1 tbsp. French dressing
¼ quart ice cream
Tea without sugar 1 glass fresh milk

Instead of starving yourself, supplement your dieting with a regular routine of exercise and massage. Walking and swimming are each excellent exercise. Now that flat, boyish figures are no longer in style, many women are interested in knowing how to develop a normal bust line. Try this exercise—push the arms forward on a level with the shoulders, swing them back and forth from side to side, stretching the body upwards on the intake of the breath.

Sundial Counts Off the "Idylle Hours"

"Idylle hours" of a summer day are counted out by the old fashioned sundial which is found at the north side of the Mound Prairie Cemetery near Twin Lakes village. The sundial, which is a curiosity in this day, bears the inscription,

"Amidst ye flowers
Idylle hours."
Time is told on the instrument by the fall of the shadow from the style on the Roman figures of the metal disc.

Twin Lakes Replaces Church of Grandma's Day as Garden for Flower of Romance

In grandma's day, a young woman or young man usually met his or her intended mate at church or in some relative's parlor, but in these days, if summer pleasure-seekers in the Twin Lakes area are to be believed, many of the young people are meeting their mates at Twin Lakes.

Matrimonial statistics compiled these days by those doing research on the marriage problem, have tended to show that the church is no longer a fertile spot for romance, while vacation centers are listed comparatively high up on the scale among the favorable environments for future husbands and wives to meet.

This trend of statistics has been borne out in this region, where frequently a woman is heard to say that she met her husband here, or a father that his daughter married a man met during a Twin Lakes vacation, or a young man that he discovered his bride at one of the lake resort. Those whose romances have flowered from Twin Lakes acquaintanceships, have met their sweethearts at resorts, at dance pavilions, on the beaches or at the golf links.
